

Patricia Bogard

Anna-Patricia BOGARD is the Head of Public Affairs at Credit Agricole CIB, the corporate and investment bank of Credit Agricole Group.

Prior to this position, she has had a long carrier in Risk management and Finance, during which she had the opportunity to implement many key prudential regulations.

The main projects she steered were about the implementation of internal models for credit risk, for counterparty risk on market operations and CVA, and implementation of PVA. She also developed the pilar 2 approach within Credit Agricole CIB, encompassing the risk appetite framework and the ICAAP and ILAAP, with the stake of promoting a global risk approach through every business line, covering a large scope of financial risks, including ESG components.

Besides, she also had the opportunity to head country and portfolio credit risk department during six years within CACIB. Finally, she was also in charge of Assets and Liability management for the international network of Credit Agricole CIB during four years.

She is engaged with main french and european banking associations in her current position (FBF, AMAFI, AFME).

Ms Bogard is graduate from ESSEC business school and has a French certification in Accounting and Audit.